Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

My faith in big hotels, sadly shaken time after time during the past five years, by stony indifference, and I don't give a hoot attitude of room clerks was greatly revived this week by a cordial letter from W. L. Stodghill, assistant manager of Hotel Cleveland at Cleveland.

I might say here that the indifferent attitude above mentioned had not included the aforesaid Hotel Cleveland, so far all I know that well known hotel may be one of the outstanding hotels where every courtesy was extended even when the place was packed to capacity, as many hotels were during the "big years."

I had written for reservations at the Hotel Cleveland, and asked for confirmation. In some instance I have written other hotels which apparently were full, and received no intimation that my letter had ever been received.

Not so with the Hotel Cleveland, however, for right back, special delivery mail, came this reply, which certainly proves the big hotel is really after business and anxious to serve the public:

"Responding to your letter of September 16th, with much regret we must tell you of our inability to make reservation for you for Tuesday night. We are booked to capacity until Thursday. We can offer you a room between Thursday and Sunday if your visit could be deferred until that time."

"Sorry indeed that we are unable to comply with your request."

My faith in big hotels was given another boost when I wired the Carter Hotel in Cleveland requesting confirmation by wire, and promptly received it.

And when I registered at the Carter Tuesday night, I found the reservation made at the price I had asked, instead of finding the rate higher than I had requested as I have found at several other hotels in the past few years.

Menu for Soldiers Is Cut by Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28—(AP)—American soldiers in the Far East will have less fresh food next month as a result of the 26-day-old west coast maritime tieup. Brig. Gen. Paul F. Yount says.

The general, commander of the army transportation corps, said yesterday that at best the army can carry in its own refrigerated ships about four-fifths of normal supplies. Private shipping firms normally carry such refrigerated cargoes for the army, but have declined to do so now since it would mean dealing with striking CIO longshoremen.

The Waterfront Employers Association and Pacific American shipowners have refused to talk further with the striking union so long as the union leaders won't sign non-Communism affidavits under the Taft-Hartley act.

Other firms, not members of the WEA, are loading army dry cargoes with union labor, and sufficient ships are available to the army to carry them.

There still is no indication of any move toward a strike settlement.

Indicted for Gambling

DELAWARE, Sept. 28—(AP)—One man, Frank Banks, was indicted yesterday after a five-day grand jury investigation of gambling. The jury charged Frank Banks, operator of the south side Boosters' Club, with keeping seven slot machines and with illegal possession of liquor.

The WHS marching band is shown in the top photo just as it marched onto the field in the vast Cleveland Stadium Sunday for its performance between the halves of the Cleveland Browns-Chicago Rockets pro football game. The picture was snapped by a Central Press Association (a nationwide newspaper service) photographer from high up on top of the stadium.

The lower photo shows a few of the crowd of more than 300 that went on the YBM excursion train and private car. The Washington C. H. delegation was all seated together in section 34 of the stadium. This picture also was made by a CPA photographer with a flashlight camera.

1,600 Miles an Hour Made by Jet Missile

Progress in Super-Sound Engine Research
Being Made National Committee Reveals

By JAMES STREIBIG

CLEVELAND, Sept. 28—(AP)—The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics today revealed major strides in supersonic speed-engine research, including a ram-jet test missile clocked at more than 1,600 miles an hour in drop tests.

At a ceremony in which the giant, flight propulsion laboratory here was named to honor the late George W. Lewis, NCAA officials also disclosed:

Paralyzed Veteran Declines Federal Aid for New Home

GENEVA, Sept. 28—(AP)—A partially paralyzed war veteran, Gerald Jeppe, 26, says his gift house is fine. He doesn't want $10,000 worth of help from the government in getting another.

During a recent physical check-up at the Cleveland Veterans Administration building, he was told of a new provision of the law. The government will help a paralyzed veteran by paying half the cost of a house and lot—any amount up to $10,000 for the half.

"I told them I had a home," said Jeppe. "They asked me if I wanted to sell it and build another one, but I said no. My entire family loves the house and everything connected with our getting it."

He and his wife Vera and their four-year-old son Gerry live in a five-room bungalow for which his fellow townsmen donated money, labor and materials.

But one bit of help he may take. He would like to have an elevator and ramps installed in his present home, so he can get around better, and to have a couple of upstairs rooms finished.

CATS Recruited For Army Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(AP)—The army is enrolling CATs. CATs are civilian actress technicians, and the army needs them to help entertain and plan shows for troops in Japan and the Marianas command.

Auditions for the $4,246-a-year jobs are being held in Greenwich Village for singers, dancers, actresses and piano players.

Health Program Here Proves Value

Sammy Lane, aged five, today was recuperating at his home in Bloomingburg. He had a case of diphtheria. One of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lane, Sammy attends the Bloomingburg School.

After hearing of the case Thursday of last week, Health Department personnel quickly made examinations at the school and found none of the children had the disease. Most of them had been protected against the disease previously with shots.

This case, the first in Fayette County in several years, points up the importance of having the children immunized early in their lives against diphtheria, small pox and whooping cough according to the health commissioner, Dr. Gordon B. Savage.

In a recent letter to parents whose children are in school and not yet protected from one or more of these diseases, the Board of Health stated that "all children should be vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria and whooping cough before one year of age."

Dr. Savage asked parents to take their children to their family physician for this protection during the first few months of their lives and follow their recommendations in immunizing the children.

Preschool conferences last spring showed that less than 10 percent of the preschool children in the county had been immunized against the three diseases, Dr. Savage said.

The children in kindergarten were protected to a considerably greater extent.

Immunization programs in city and county schools will begin with Bloomingburg and Marion Tuesday, according to Dr. Savage. He pointed out that most children are now immunized in the schools and since this is so, a case of the disease in the schools today does not cause as much anxiety as it would have before the first school immunization was conducted.

The Health Department began a widespread school immunization program under Dr. Brent A. Welch in 1946.

In regard to the school program, the Board of Health says: "You should take your child to your family physician for this (diphtheria, smallpox, and whooping cough) protection. If this is not possible, your child may receive same at school in which event, we shall ask that you sign a card or cards and return them to the teacher. If it has been more than two years since your child had diphtheria toxoid we suggest that a booster dose of toxoid be given."

The school program consists of three shots three weeks apart for each child who requires immunization.

Prisoner Escapes And One Returns

LONDON, Sept. 28—(AP)—London Prison Farm officials today reported Russell W. Howell, 28, escaped from Mansfield, having walked away from the farm. Howell was admitted to Ohio Penitentiary June 10, 1946, to serve one to 15 years on a burglary charge. He was sent to the farm Oct. 1, 1947.

Officials also said James Carr, 40, Springfield, returned 48 hours after walking away from the farm. Carr, sentenced in 1947 to serve one to 20 years on a cutting to kill charge, will have a year added to his term for his short time of freedom, officials said.

Dies of Injuries

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 28—(AP)—Warren Williams, 7, son of Mrs. Marguerite Williams, died today in City Hospital of injuries suffered Sunday when he was struck by an automobile south of the city.

Federal Agencies in Wrangle Over Anti-Communist Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—The Senate investigating committee called in two government employees today for their version of a hotly disputed claim about censorship of anti-Communist writings.

The senators are digging into the dispute between Dr. John W. Studebaker, former commissioner

Trial of Four On Spy Charges Now Demanded

Mystery Scientist
Hunted for Giving Away Atom Secrets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—Congressional spy probes pressed their hunt today for a mysterious "scientist X" after demanding immediate trials for four persons they accused of tampering with atomic secrets.

The House un-American activities committee linked the unidentified scientist with Steve Nelson, who the committee said should be tried as an outright wartime spy. Nelson is a Communist party organizer in Pennsylvania.

The House group's preliminary report last night also declared that Dr. Clarence F. Hiskey, his former wife, Marcia Sand Hiskey, and Dr. John H. Chapin should be prosecuted on charges of conspiring to hand over atomic secrets to Soviet agents. Hiskey and Chapin were atomic bomb project scientists during the war.

The penalty for conviction on either charge, spying or conspiracy to spy, is death or up to 30 years' imprisonment.

Chapin, whom the committee described as a "very cooperative" witness, was not available for comment in New York, his wife said.

Hiskey could not be reached. His present wife, Mrs. Miriam Hiskey, said "he asked me to say he's not available."

However, his former wife, Marcia Sand, characterized the charges against him as "ridiculous to begin with."

Regarding the charges against herself, she said:

"Of course I refute them. I have nothing to say. We'll see what Truman will say."

She declined to amplify the remark.

The committee said its first report on a month long inquiry tells "only a small part" of the whole story of atomic spy activities. Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) announced locked-door hearings will continue indefinitely.

While stressing that so far it has been able only to "scratch the surface," the committee declared that the evidence it has turned up has been known to government agents for more than five years.

"Any further delay in proceeding with prosecutions of the members of these espionage groups," the report asserted, "could result in tragic consequences to the United States and to the world."

It said failure to prosecute is "indefensible."

There was no immediate comment from the justice department.

Railroads in Columbus Promise to Tone Down

COLUMBUS, Sept. 28—(AP)—City council last night received a promise from W. H. Mapp, spokesman for the five major railroads running through here, to cut down on:

(A) crossing blocking, (B) whistle and bell noise, and (C) cursing by railroaders over the yard loudspeaker systems.

'Don't Touch Me' Last Words of Man With Charged Wire

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—(AP)—"Please, Lord, don't let anybody touch me!"

That was the final prayer last night of a writhing, young bridegroom-to-be, his body charged with electricity from an exposed wire in the flat he was remodeling into a honeymoon on Chicago's west side.

The victim of the tragedy was Sebastian Dimatteo, 24, who fought through the war in the South Pacific as a ball turret gunner.

A grief-stricken witness was Miss Natalie Carnaggio, 21, of Forest Park, whom he was to take as his bride Saturday. She had warned him of the dangerous wire, but her cry was too late.

The young couple, Miss Carnaggio's sister, Mrs. Marianne Kovach, and a friend Joseph Catalana, 17, were remodeling the apartment.

Communism Is Campaign Issue

Truman in Oklahoma,
Dewey in Northwest

(By the Associated Press)
President Truman headed into Oklahoma today for a major campaign speech on Communism—a topic newly headlined by congressional spy investigators.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, already on record with a promised government "housecleaning" of Soviet-minded workers, carried his GOP presidential drive homeward through the northwest.

Mr. Truman's handling of the Communist issue came under double fire last night.

The House un-American activities committee described as "completely inexcusable" what it called the administration's failure to prosecute persons linked to a "Soviet espionage conspiracy."

"A complete and forthright explanation is due the American people of the reasons for this failure," the committee said in a formal report.

The document demanded the president "forthwith" lift the "iron curtain" which it said he had drawn by barring "access to the evidence in the files of the executive branch of the government."

Mr. Truman repeatedly has labeled the congressional investigations into Communist activities a "red herring" to distract the voters' attention from the problem of high prices, which he blames on the GOP-controlled 80th Congress.

Gov. Earl Warren, the No. 2 GOP candidate, fired yesterday's second volley at Mr. Truman on the "red herring" score. He told a Syracuse, N. Y., crowd:

"In spite of the fact that some people have talked about red herrings, there are a lot of Communists at work in this country."

Dewey, meanwhile, outlined in a Seattle address a nine-point program to develop the nation's natural resources to provide "more power to wage the peace."

He said America's power-producing capacity will have to be boosted almost 20 percent to meet increased demands. Dewey stressed, however, that in the development of the nation's rivers home rule should apply and not the sweeping federal controls he ascribed to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

21 Under Arrest In Lancaster Now

LANCASTER, Sept. 28—(AP)—Six persons still awaited arrest today on indictments returned last week by a grand jury looking into disposal of stolen meat and into gambling activities.

The jury indicted 27 persons, and 21 have been arrested on warrants served by the sheriff's office. Eleven were arrested yesterday.

They included Oscar Weidner, 47, of Thurston, president of the Fairfield County Fish and Game Association, charged with exhibiting slot machines in his filling station; Anna Bauer, operator of a restaurant and wife of Police Capt. Lawrence Bauer, charged with displaying punch boards.

All posted $500 property bonds.

Crash Proves Fatal

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 28—(AP)—Injuries suffered when her car hit a light pole near Evesfield caused the death of Mrs. Fred Jackson, 57, of Cambridge yesterday.

Report Is Made To President By Ambassador

East-West Showdown
Near in UN—Yanks
Released by Reds

ABOARD TRUMAN CAMPAIGN TRAIN, Sept. 28—(AP)—Walter Bedell Smith, America's ambassador to Moscow, told reporters that relations with Russia "have never been more critical than now."

Questioned after a lengthy conference with President Truman, Smith said the chief executive concurred in his opinion, but asked the newsmen to modify his estimate of relations with the Russians from "never more critical" to "never more serious."

Smith flew to Dallas from Washington to board the president's campaign train for an extraordinary conference on relations with Russia.

Mr. Truman weighed the first hand account from his Moscow ambassador as he carried his campaign for reelection toward a major speech in Oklahoma City this afternoon.

The president maintained constant communications with Secretary of State Marshall.

BATTLE OPENS IN UN

PARIS, Sept. 28—(AP)—France appealed to the United Nations today to end the Soviet blockade of Berlin because the three western powers have "exhausted every possibility of direct agreement" with the Russians.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, in a policy speech to the general assembly, said the United States, Britain and France had not found even "a minimum of good will" in their talks with "our Russian partners."

Schuman spoke as the three western nations prepared their appeals to the security council, formally citing the blockade as a threat to international peace and security.

A French source said the three powers would deliver identical notes to U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie, requesting urgent action on their complaint.

Soviet Surprise

A Russian source at U.N. headquarters, meanwhile, hinted a Soviet surprise when the Big Four dispute is argued in the security council.

This usually reliable informant said the Russians will be present in the council chamber when Berlin is discussed and "you will see what happens then."

RUSSIAN MONEY SLIPS

BERLIN, Sept. 28—(AP)—Berliners have lost some of their faith in Russian-issued marks since the latest blowup of four-power on the blockade of the former German capital.

It became apparent today the so-called "east marks" issued by the Soviet authorities are steadily dropping in value. At no time was the "ostmark" considered equal to the western "deutsche mark" on a one-for-one basis, even by ardent Communists.

The tangled political situation has been reflected somewhat in black market quotations on German currency here during the past week.

Communists have a healthy respect for the "west mark." They demonstrated that soon after the currency reform by trying to collar as many of them as they could. This was done in devious ways. One of the systems tried was flooding the western sectors with Russian-made cigarettes on sale in the black market for only west marks, and at a cheap price.

The double currency was introduced last June.

REDS FREE AMERICANS

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 28—(AP)—Two American oil men expelled from Communist-controlled Hungary said today they had been forced to sign statements saying they sabotaged production in the Hungarian plant of the Standard Oil Company, (N. Y.).

It was a case of "sign or else," declared Paul Ruedemann of Hartsdale, N. Y., chairman of the American-owned Hungarian Company. He and his deputy, George Bannantine of St. Louis, Mo., denied emphatically all charges of sabotage.

The two said Hungarian economic police told them: "Go along with us or we will find a way to make you."

They were expelled from Hungary. (Please Turn to Page Two)

Old Records Are Found in Arctic

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(AP)—The New York Times said today a navy and coast guard expedition has returned from the Arctic with handwritten records left there more than 40 years ago by Comdr. Robert E. Peary.

The expedition also found copies of documents cached in the polar regions by a British expedition of 1875-76, the paper said in a special dispatch from Washington.

Peary had removed the original papers of this expedition in 1905, and ordered copies of them placed there. They were found at Cape

Sheridan, about 450 miles from the pole.

The text of the papers was not made public, but a man who saw parts of the notes said they were, for the most part, the usual evidence left by explorers of their presence in strange places.

The expedition was organized to resupply existing weather stations and plan construction of two new weather stations to be operated jointly by Americans and Canadians.

Technically known as task force 80, the expedition was made up of three ships, the navy ice breaker Edisto, the coast guard ice breaker Eastwind and the navy cargo ship Wyandotte. On board were more than 500 officers and men. Also aboard were American and Canadian civilian experts and a few Canadian naval officers.

The party camp was found after an earlier attempt had failed. Only two days were left before the expedition would have been forced to evacuate the area when a helicopter spotted the dark rock of the cairn, landed and the papers were removed.

of education, and Oscar R. Ewing, director of the catch-all federal security agency.

Studebaker told the committee yesterday that Ewing's policy of centralizing authority had hampered Studebaker's efforts to wage an anti-Communist campaign through the public schools. He emphasized he did not question anyone's honesty or loyalty.

Ewing, trembling with anger, denied the charges and leveled a few of his own against Studebaker. He called the accusations "false and ridiculous."

Today's witnesses were Earl Hutchinson of the office of education and John Thurston, assistant federal security administrator.

Studebaker testified he was forced to "clear" all speeches and writings through Thurston, whom he described as "loyal but naive."

He said Thurston's office censored several statements aimed at Communism at home and abroad—and created "confusion" in the education office.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(P)—Russia and Communism provide for the big "if" in the presidential campaign.

1. Will there be war with Russia?

2. Will the nations of western Europe become prosperous and steady enough to stop the spread of Communism.

So far the two top candidates, President Truman and Governor Dewey, have kept our foreign policy out of the political campaign.

That's because both parties, Democrats and Republicans, have helped shape our foreign policy toward Russia and Europe.

In that field, at least, they've been able to work together for the good of the country.

So, with foreign affairs out of the argument, the big issue in the campaign is what happens here at home in the next four years.

In short, do you think the country will be better under the Republicans or the Democrats?

So far Mr. Truman has made few promises. He's spent most of his time denouncing the Republicans.

He has promised the west, though, that if elected he'll try to make the western acres a lot more fertile by having the government steer water through them.

But the Democratic party platform, on which he is running, has made a number of promises.

Governor Dewey has said quite a bit about bringing down prices and cutting government spending and taxes.

But Dewey very carefully put a big "if" in his promises as you can see from what he said in New Mexico last week:

"America's No. 1 domestic problem is world peace. We can only master the question of swollen prices, debts and taxes in a world at peace."

As an example of how Russia puts the big "if" in there, take this:

Right now, because we're trying to build up our defenses, we're spending $15,000,000,000 a year on the armed forces.

But Russia is getting more ugly every day around Berlin. If she gets tougher and throws a little more weight around Europe, we'll probably have to spend more than $15,000,000,000 a year on the armed forces.

Now take the countries of western Europe. We're helping them through the Marshall Plan for two reasons, among others:

1. To help them get straightened out after the war.

2. To help them get prosperous so they won't collapse, for if they do, the Communists may take over.

This year we're spending $5,300,000,000 on the Marshall Plan. Next year we expect to spend more billions, although perhaps not as much as this year.

But suppose Russia acts up and those western European countries stagger. Then we'll probably spend a lot more than $5,300,000,000 to save them.

And if expenses in just those two fields—defense and the Marshall Plan—go up, cutting taxes at all will be tough or impossible.

And—if we go to war with Russia, the sky will be the limit. We'll go plunging into bigger spending and heavier debt.

So, as the campaign goes along and hear one of the candidates talk about what he'll do if elected, just remember to say to yourself "maybe he will, if—"

Fayette Ranks Second in Tax Delinquencies

Enviably Record Is Only Beaten by Shelby County

Fayette County for the year 1947 stood second in Ohio in the small amount of delinquent taxes, as shown by a report of the Ohio State Department of Taxation.

Shelby County ranked first with Fayette County a close behind. There is every reason to believe that at the end of 1948, Fayette County will be the lowest in Ohio in point of overdue taxes.

Shelby had a total of $3,230 in delinquent taxes, and Fayette County had $4,813.

Shelby had $2,716 in real estate; $95 in tangible personal, and $410 in classified personal.

Fayette County had $3,508 in real estate; $1,294 in tangible personal, and $11 in classified personal.

Unless Shelby wipes out most of her delinquency during this year, Fayette County will rank first, it is indicated.

Clinton County had $15,520 in delinquent taxes; Greene, $27,721; Pickaway $38,166; Madison $16,672; Highland $24,438 and Ross $98,021.

Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) has $50,273,302 in delinquent taxes outstanding on the books, which is by far the most of any county in Ohio, as Hamilton (including Cincinnati) has only $1,055,110 outstanding, and Lake County (Painesville) $1,705,593.

The small amount of delinquency in this county clearly indicates that County Treasurer Charles Fabb and his immediate predecessors have accomplished a notable piece of work.

The total income for the United States rose from $76 billion in 1940 to about $160 billion in 1945.

Greene Township Circle Meeting

Greene Township's Community Circle opened the season with an interesting meeting, and good attendance.

A potluck supper was served at 7:30 P. M. and in the business meeting which followed, the following officers were chosen:

President, Ralph Theobald; secretary, Mrs. Pierce Miller; assistant secretary, Maxine Gilmer; treasurer, Eddie Crozatt; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Eakins.

The circle voted to purchase a new basketball for the school. Miscellaneous supplies for the school lunch were purchased.

Decision was reached to hold a carnival the latter part of October, and the same committee that had charge last year will plan the carnival this year.

Various committees were named in connection with the school lunches.

It was decided to hold the meetings the third Wednesday each month.

Jane Ann McCoy furnished enjoyable entertainment with various instruments and gave some dances. She showed an assortment of movies, especially for children, as the close of her program.

The committee in charge consisted of the teachers, Mrs. Donald McCoppin and Mrs. Ray Cummings.

It is estimated that about 15 per cent of all elementary school pupils in the United States are still taught in one-room, one-teacher schools in the open country.

Physically Handicapped To Register

Important Step For Obtaining Jobs During Drive

Ward C. Miller, manager of the local office of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, today urged all unemployed and physically handicapped persons available for work to register with the BUC office here if they have not already done so.

Miller also called upon Fayette County employers to contact his office if they were interested in hiring a physically handicapped but otherwise qualified worker.

Miller made his plea as employer, veteran, civic and government groups throughout Fayette County prepared to launch an all-out campaign for the employment of physically handicapped persons, veterans and non-veterans, on the basis of their qualifications.

The drive will reach its peak October 3-9 when Fayette County will observe National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

Fayette County employers can help preserve the integrity and character of handicapped by giving them opportunities to work on steady jobs. Employers have learned that by employing disabled persons they not only provide opportunities to those most deserving, but also secure employees whose records prove them to be reliable and highly productive.

Large companies that hire handicapped workers agree that they are more conscientious, learn skills better, stay on the job and produce more.

Miller said: "the personnel turnover among such handicapped workers in industry is less and insurance rates are not higher. Industry needs men and women who can lick big odds. The disabled fill that bill. They didn't let us down when we needed them. We must not let them down when they need us."

Hospital Architect Heads Ohio Group

C. Curtiss Insko, of the firm of Insko, Brand and Insko, Columbus, who was chosen architect for the Fayette County Memorial Hospital, has been elected president of the Architects Society of Ohio.

The fourteenth annual convention of the society was held in Dayton.

Selection of Insko indicates his prominence among architects in Ohio.

Ballot Marking Order Held Up

Secretary of State Notifies Boards

Word has been received by the Fayette County Board of Elections, as well as all other boards in Ohio, for the boards to disregard, until further notice, an opinion of Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins regarding the counting of certain marked ballots in the November election.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel, issued the order.

Jenkins' opinion was if voters who place a cross mark in either the Democratic or Republican column of the ballot and then cross over to mark one or more Henry Wallace electors—the votes will count only for Wallace electors.

Since the ruling, however, a test case of the opinion has been filed with the third district court of appeals in Lima, and with the filing of the suit Hummel sent notes to the elections boards to disregard the attorney general ruling until the case has been settled and a further opinion given.

Some time ago members of county boards of election met with the secretary of state for a discussion of election problems. At that time the members reached a unanimous agreement that such marked ballots should be thrown out entirely. The attorney general's ruling came later.

Truman's Star Seems Rapidly On The Wane

Reports from unprejudiced sources are indicating that President Truman's big political jaunt across the country is proving disappointing to his campaign managers and threatens early disaster to the entire Democratic campaign.

Apparently President Truman has been the recipient of bad advice as to the kind of a campaign he should wage. The irresponsibility of some of his statements has become so noticeable that he is being held up to ridicule.

In campaign times there are many politicians who make wild promises, but in addition to making reckless promises to different groups over the country, some of which are beyond any probability of fulfillment and are completely out of line with his own record of performances, he is lowering the dignity of the important office of the presidency to the level of exceedingly small-time politics.

There was a time when Mr. Truman had the sympathy, if not always the ardent support of many unbiased people. That was when he first became president and showed some spirit of independence of action. It was recognized by many that he was assuming a very difficult position in falling heir to many New Deal policies and acts which in time were bound to show up badly as fundamental government practices. Most people were inclined to give him a chance to bring about adjustments. Soon, however, Mr. Truman succumbed to the palace guard and the political leeches who had thrived and had grown pompous during the many years under the New Deal hierarchy. The pressure was too much for a man of Mr. Truman's capacity. From that time on he began to slip until now he fails to have the confidence of the greater part of the thinking public, regardless of politics.

Even in the event of a more serious crisis in international affairs, such as war, it is very improbable that Truman could be elected as some presidents have been in such periods. He seems too unsure of himself and unable to establish any feeling that he is either a thoughtful or a safe leader. In threatening times such as this nation is facing, the best brains of the country should be at the helm of the ship of state.

German Civil Rights

The function of a military government is usually thought of as embodying control only, but General Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany, thinks of it also in the light of civil liberties.

General Clay invited a committee of the American Civil Liberties Union to conduct a thorough inquiry into the preservation of civil rights under his jurisdiction. Arthur Garfield Hays, general counsel of the civil liberties organization, is quoted as saying that inquiries will be made into such matters as "freedom of press, assemblage, religion, radio, motion pictures and communications, rights of labor, powers and performance of military government and the courts." The committee will also observe the transferring of military authority to civilian bodies, the dissemination of democratic ideas, and the behavior of the American troops.

Americans hope the German people will observe the contrast between the actions of such a committee and the tyrannical procedures of dictatorships and the methods of the Russian occupying forces. One acts to preserve and increase individual prerogatives, while the other curtails them in every direction.

The old proverb about enough rope to hang one's self still is good, and the Muscovites seem bent on proving it in occupied Germany.

Boy Study Your Girl's Hairline

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK. (AP)—One way to pick up a wife is to look at her nape-of-the-neck hairline and find out what dance step she prefers.

A Manhattan hair stylist and a society band leader say in this way a bachelor can quickly discover a girl's secret personality.

Mark, a coiffeur who features a cozy $50 futuristic coiffure, said that after studying several thousand feminine napes he had reached these conclusions:

"A girl with a three-pointed hairline is generous, open-handed, and will put herself out for friends. But if the two outer points reach lower than the center, beware—she is the type of person who, if taken advantage of, will retaliate with great venom."

"A straight hairline indicates a gambling instinct and executive ability."

"A five-point hairline shows a rare sense of humor. A girl with a mushrooming, sprawling hairline is artistic, moody—and very unstable. If the hair has a tendency to swirl from left to right, that is a sign the girl has a liberal turn of mind."

If his sweetheart passes the hairline test, the bachelor can then assay her character according to a formula evolved by Bandleader Ruby Newman.

Newman divides women into five dancing types—waltzers, fox trotters, provocatives, weird-antics (jitterbugs), and stumblers or non-dancers.

"A girl loves to waltz is a good bet for a good home-maker," said the maestro. "She is lovable, sensible and understanding. And she can be as happy in a one-room flat as in a 26-room mansion."

He thinks the fox-trotter is almost as good a marital bet.

"This girl is a bit more bold than the waltz type. But she is usually pretty fair at household duties, overlooks your faults and can charm the boss—even with an empty refrigerator."

The provocative type, said Newman, is "an exhibitionist who rhumbas and sambas in sophisticated manner, she's not reluctant to test the kitchen chinaware on your skull, and she loves and demands a good time. Household chores are out of her world. To keep her happy you have to give her lots of attention as well as your paycheck."

The weird-antical girl uses up so much energy jitterbugging she has no strength left for tidying up the house. Her intelligence quotient is rated lower than a 1914 Russian ruble.

"She's always too tired to tackle the family wash, and her sink is full of dirty dishes," Newman warned.

"She'd rather be wrapped around a good pulp tale or the latest comic magazine. To her the frills of life weigh more than the necessities, and her husband's income will always trail her budget."

The band leader classified the last type, the female stumbler who spends more time dancing on her escort's feet than on the floor, as one answer to the shortage of household maids.

"She's meek, subservient and a kitchen addict. But a bachelor could do a lot worse than marry her. She'll always be home when he gets there."

Newman added one caution:

"A girl may like to rhumba and samba and still be a waltz type. She may be able to dance any step. To type her right you have to find out which steps she likes to dance most often."

Strike up the band, gents. Ladies, the hairline forms to the right.

Paper Shortage Is by Choice

By George E. Sokolsky

The British, while short of newsprint, are long on idle facilities to manufacture newsprint. These facilities are not being used because the British do not choose to expend their dollars to import wood pulp. That is their choice and has nothing to do with us, except as they use American dollars, obtained through ERP (now called ECA) which means that the American taxpayer provides the British with the wherewithal to purchase newsprint in competition with American newspapers which do not receive money from their own government as a gift but have to earn it.

Arthur Sulzberger, publisher of "The New York Times," had this to say on the subject:

"In my judgement, a loss of freedom in Britain would all too quickly be reflected here by curtailment of liberty. We will stand or fall together, and of course it's 'stand' that we intend to do."

"To assist in that purpose, if the British government will allocate the dollars and the supply of newsprint remains short, we on 'The New York Times' are prepared to give up a percentage of our raw material for British use if other American publishers will do the same."

Cranston Williams of The American Newspaper Publishers Association replied to Mr. Sulzberger's proposal as follows:

"Whenever the British government wants to authorize use of dollars required by Canada and Newfoundland it is my understanding that newsprint for Britain is available upon receipt of that hard money to care for contracts already existing."

"Further, when the British government sees fit to authorize use of hard money there is pulpwood in Newfoundland available for manufacturing newsprint in Britain."

Mr. Sulzberger was undoubtedly responsive to some of the British criticism of the huge daily and Sunday editions of "The New York Times" while they suffer from newsprint starvation. The fact is that the British press does not need to suffer this starvation if their socialist government will permit them to buy what they wish. The reason that Mr. Sulzberger's proposal was not accepted enthusiastically in London is obvious: The British would still have to purchase the relinquished newsprint. They are willing to take from ERP or ECA, but they are unwilling to pay in U. S. or Canadian dollars. The American publisher does not want his taxes to compete against him in the purchase of Canadian newsprint which is already at a fabulous price.

In 1941, "The New York Times" consumed approximately 90,000 tons of newsprint. It is estimated that this year they will use about 144,000 tons, a rise of about 60 percent. The average rise for all American newspapers is about 29 percent. Maybe the British publishers find these figures hard to take in view of their own shortages, but our newspapers pay their own way and so ought the British newspapers. All this talk about maintaining freedom of the press by a handout of newsprint is unsound, because no handout ever won freedom for anybody. Mr. Sulzberger's proposal is charitable but it will not solve Great Britain's newsprint problem any more than the original British loan solved her problem of productivity. Socialism needs to re-learn the lesson that the prosperity of a nation depends upon its ability to produce goods and services, not upon its propagandistic ability to create an attitude favorable to granting loans.

Freedom of the press has existed only in countries where the press has been entirely self-supporting. It has not existed in countries where the government owned or subsidized the press or where its publishers were dependent upon subsidies from political parties. As a matter of fact, as long as the British press is dependent upon its own government or ours for its newsprint, it will not be free. Even British newspapers which own forests or mills in Canada may not use them to provide British newspapers because of the policy of their government to restrict their operations.

Mr. Sulzberger seems to hold somewhat to this view, for he added:

"... If there is blame, let it rest squarely on government which does not seem to recognize the full importance of information, or, as some suggest, is prone to look the other way because too frequently it dislikes the news that is published."

It is not the government's fault that the British press is in a predicament. It is the fault of the British government's policy to restrict the press.

It is not the government's fault that the British press is in a predicament. It is the fault of the British government's policy to restrict the press.

It is not the government's fault that the British press is in a predicament. It is the fault of the British government's policy to restrict the press.

It is not the government's fault that the British press is in a predicament. It is the fault of the British government's policy to restrict the press.

It is not the government's fault that the British press is in a predicament. It is the fault of the British government's policy to restrict the press.

It is not the government's fault that the British press is in a predicament. It is the fault of the British government's policy to restrict the press.

Diet and Health

Hardening Arteries Of Diabetic Patient

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IT sometimes happens that one disease will bring on another. Diabetes is a case in point. This condition occurs when the pancreas—a gland located in the abdomen—fails to make enough insulin, the substance which enables the body to use sugar properly.

We don't know just what the connection is between this disease and hardening of the arteries, but physicians are well aware that diabetic patients readily develop complications of this kind. Of course, hardened arteries are bound to develop to some extent in elderly people, but the process takes place earlier and more frequently in those with diabetes.

Bleeding Into Retina

Fifty to seventy per cent of all diabetics, for instance, develop hardening of the arteries of the retina or back part of the eyeball. As a result, these arteries frequently break and bleed into the retina occurs. Such bleeding may develop without interfering with the eyesight and may stop with or without treatment.

Recently it has been found that changes in the retina, which accompany diabetes, are, in most instances, associated with a decrease in the amount of protein in the blood. A high protein diet therefore has been advised in such cases; that is, a diet containing an abundance of meat, milk and eggs. It is also helpful in such instances to give large doses of Vitamin C and Vitamin K.

Hardening of the arteries in the legs is common in the patient with diabetes. This, of course, interferes with the circulation in the legs and may be responsible for pain and other symptoms. The pain in such cases is present when the patient is resting. There may also be some color changes in the skin and a sensation of cold. These symptoms indicate that the damage to the arteries is severe.

Improve Circulation

Treatment in such instances consists of efforts to improve the circulation. In some cases, cutting of the nerves which control the action of the muscles and the blood vessel walls may be helpful. If interference with the circulation is so severe as to lead to death of the tissues, treatment with penicillin is of value in controlling the infection.

Damage to the blood vessels in the kidneys also may occur in diabetes. It is found particularly in mild or moderately severe diabetes together with high blood pressure.

Hardening of the arteries in the brain also occurs, but the symptoms do not differ from those which develop in patients who do not have diabetes.

It is important for the diabetic to remain constantly under the care of his physician, so that the disease may receive proper treatment and be kept under control.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. E. T.: A specialist has told my wife that she needs an operation for otosclerosis. Is this operation dangerous, or will it restore her hearing completely?

Answer: The operation for otosclerosis is not a dangerous one. It is impossible to predict whether complete recovery of hearing will occur. However, with this operation, often a great deal of hearing is regained.

You should, of course, follow the advice of your physician in this matter.

New Pipeline For Texas Gas Now Considered

War-time Scars Here Now Gone—Hearings Held by Government

The two pipelines—the Big Inch and Little Inch—that were laid across Fayette County back in wartime to carry gasoline and oil to the east for shipment overseas to the armed forces and to relieve the shortage in Atlantic coast states when Nazi submarines were torpedoing the tankers, today are back in the national spotlight.

The Power Commission, a federal agency, has opened hearings on a proposal for a $73,500,000 pipeline to carry natural gas from the Carthage gas field in east Texas to Middletown and, at the same time took under consideration a proposal of the Eastern Texas Transmission Corp. to build $24,000,000 worth of new facilities on the Big Inch and Little Inch to tie in the proposed new line at Middletown.

The Texas Gas Transmission Corp. is applying for permission to lay the 840-mile line.

Reaction Question

Just what the reaction here would be to laying another pipeline is conjectural. Rumors of the possibility already have revived memories of the heated disputes that arose when the other two were put down.

However, those disputes were tempered by a spirit of wartime patriotism.

An engineer here about the middle of the summer revealed in informal off-the-record talks that he was looking over the right-of-way with a view to the laying of another pipeline. He did not, however, give any indication of when plans called for the projected job to get under way.

Old Gashes Healed

The raw gashes across Fayette County's fertile fields that aroused so much rancor when the first lines were put in have been virtually obliterated by time, weather and cultivation. Crops are now growing over the pipelines.

To offset the love-of-the-land feeling against the laying of another pipeline paralleling the Big Inch and Little Inch are the gas shortages that have developed every winter.

The proposed joint facilities, if approved, would provide a capacity of 350,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day when completed.

The gas would go to the Memphis Natural Gas Co. and the Kentucky Natural Gas Corp., divisions of Texas Gas Transmission; to the city of Louisville; Ohio Fuel Gas Co.; East Ohio Gas Co.; The Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. of Pittsburgh and Texas Eastern Transmission Corp.

Of the total, 235,000,000 cubic feet would be delivered through the Middletown station to Texas Eastern for redelivery of 110,000,000 cubic feet to East Ohio Gas Co. and 100,000,000 cubic feet to Ohio Fuel Gas and Manufacturers Light and Heat.

The remainder would go to the Texas Eastern general system.

Prolonged Hearings

The hearings are expected to continue for about six weeks.

W. T. Stevenson, executive vice president of Texas Gas Transmission, the first witness, testified his firm expects to start deliveries through the line, if it is authorized, during the winter of 1949-50.

A 63-mile section of the cross-country line already has been authorized by the commission for emergency shortage purposes in the Memphis area.

Texas Gas said it now has 165

Ohio's Congressmen Can't Agree On Economic Prospects for Future

By FRED J. ZUSY
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—Ohio members of Congress hold widely varying opinions on our future economic prospects.

Their replies to a reporter's questions vary from forecasts of "continued prosperity" by Rep. Elston (R-Cincinnati) and Rep. Carson (R-Canton) to "a bust, or at least a recession" by Rep. Huber (D-Akron).

There also is a wide disagreement on (1) whether prices at leveling off (2) whether price supports paid farmers are in part responsible for the high price of food.

Answers to these two questions vary from a flat yes to a flat no, with a number taking an in-between position.

Here are their opinions on the nation's economic future:

Rep. McCulloch (R-Piquette): "The prosperity cycle has not run its full course. I believe there will be a readjustment of some sort within the next two years."

Elston: "Continued prosperity for the present."

Rep. McCowen (R-Wheelersburg): "Business and industry around my district seem to be going along very well without any visible prospect of reduction."

Rep. McGregor (R-West Lafayette): "A majority (of the people in the district) feel that we will not have the degree of continued prosperity that we have had nor do they feel that a 'crash' is facing us. The warning that the people have been given has had a great effect."

Rep. Vorys (R-Columbus): "It looks as though things are going to slack up next year, but it may not be a depression."

Huber: "Everybody is becoming cautious, and it looks to me as though we may be in for a 'bust' or, at least, a recession—economists' fancy word for 'mild panic.'" miles of 26-inch pipe on railroad sidings along the route of the new line and that it will have an additional 85 miles of pipe available by the end of October.

Texas Gas proposes to finance the construction by sale of $60,000,000 in bonds to 12 insurance companies, by sale of $625,000 shares of common stock for $4,950,000 and $10,900,000 through earnings, bank loans and other means.

Texas Eastern plans call for building 100 miles of 16-inch line to tap new gas sources. This line would run from Baytown, Tex., to Lavaca County, Texas. The company also would build 70 miles of 20-inch line south of Lisbon, La.

Between Lebanon, Ohio, and Wind Ridge, Pa., Texas Eastern would construct 178 miles of 26-inch line. Texas Eastern said it could complete construction of its lines and compression station by November, 1949. The Lebanon-Wind Ridge line would permit carrying the additional gas supplied at Middletown by Texas Gas.

Rep. Brown (R-Blanchester): "Unless we just continue to spend public money, there's going to be a dropoff in farm prices and business activity."

Rep. Crosser (D-Cleveland): "There is reason to expect a continuance of pretty good times."

Carson: "There is no question but that business and industry will have continued prosperity. I recently checked with the U. S. Employment office and they had very few applications, the outlook in the future certainly looks good."

All prices in general, stabilizing themselves? Here's what the congressmen say:

Elston: "They will when federal expenditures are reduced and when huge shipments abroad are reduced."

McCulloch: "Yes, in most all fields."

McGregor: "I believe in my territory they are definitely on the downward trend."

Vorys: "Yes."

McCowen: "I do not know. Probably they are."

Huber: "Prices in general are not stabilizing. Some commodities are being reduced because buyers are resisting 'profit grabbing.'"

Carson: "Prices will begin to stabilize themselves and I feel within the next few weeks there will be a material decrease."

Brown: "They are stabilizing in some lines, but not in others."

Crosser: "Prices are not stabilizing yet."

These are the opinions on the part price supports paid to farmers play in food costs:

Elston and Vorys: "They are in part responsible for high prices of food."

Huber: "No."

McCulloch: "Up to this time, a minor factor."

McGregor: "Our people recognize that price supports have some effect on living costs, but also firmly believe that the exporting of critical goods and products, which continue to make scarcities, is a big reason, along with increased labor and equipment costs, for our high prices."

Brown: "Price supports are not nearly as much influence as some try to say. Wheat, for example, dropped nearly $1.25 a bushel, but the price of bread is just as high."

Crosser: "Not much."

Carson: "Any price support to anyone has a tendency to create higher prices."

McCowen: "There is no doubt but that price supports are to some extent the reason for the high prices of food; but we dare not fail to give some price supports to farmers. Just how much, has to be worked out in the line of conditions existing along with the knowledge gained from attempted solutions."

Route 35 Gets Much Attention

Seal Coat Is Now Being Applied

Practically every foot of U. S. 35, Chillicothe Road, from the end of the brick paving two miles southeast of Washington C. H., to Chillicothe, has been given attention so far this season, or is now under course of improvement by the State Highway Department.

At the present time the Fayette County State Highway crew is busy placing a seal coat on the road from the end of the brick paving to the Ross County line.

This work was started Friday and will be completed Wednesday if the weather permits.

A detour has been placed on that section of the road, and this will be lifted as soon as the seal coat is completed. The detour adds several miles to the route.

Some weeks ago the work of resurfacing the brick paving on the route, from the Fayette-Ross line to beyond Whetstone Crossing of the B. & O. Railroad, was completed.

The brick paving had become very uneven at the points, and in some places the paving had given way under the freezing and thawing weather last winter, and extensive repairs were necessary.

With the new hot-mix surface the road will now carry for many years without much attention, road officials believe.

At present the work of resurfacing the black-top from Chillicothe to near Frankfort is under way, and when finished later this month will place that section of the road in good condition.

Attention also is being given to spots this side of Frankfort to insure the road carrying through the winter in good condition.

Marianna Allen Becomes Bride Of Earl Rohde

St. Colman's Church was the setting Saturday morning for the wedding of Miss Marianna Jo Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Allen and Mr. Victor A. Rohde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rohde, Sr., of this city.

Rev. Otto F. Guenther officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass, was sung by Mrs. Max Wilson, with Miss Margaret McDonald accompanying.

Miss Patsy Long attended the bride as maid of honor and Mr. Earl Rohde, Jr., brother of the groom, served as best man.

The altar of the church was beautifully decorated with large vases of white gladioli, king asters, delphinium and white mums. The family pews were marked with white satin bows and greenery.

For her wedding the bride was dressed in a gown of lustrous skinner satin, fashioned with a sheer yoke, outlined with a soft bertha collar. Long tight fitted sleeves ended in points over the wrists. From the slim fitted bodice, the bouffant satin skirt fell over a cascade of marquisette ruffles in front and terminated in a long train.

The finger tip veil of English import illusion was caught by a sweet heart bonnet trimmed with seed pearls.

She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

The maid of honor wore a rai- in brown floor length gown of victorian design. She carried bronze mums fashioned in a classic arm bouquet.

The bride's mother was becomingly gowned in a gray dress-maker suit with red accessories. She had a corsage of Better Times roses. The groom's mother was wearing a black crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of golden rapture roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride immediately following the ceremony for fifty guests. A three tiered cake, centered with a bride and groom was served from a lace covered table, banked on each side with vases of white mums and other fall flowers.

Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. Michael Christopher and Mrs. Ralph Arnold assisted. For going away the bride was wearing a Glen Plaid suit with kelly green accessories and a corsage of talisman roses. They are on a week's motoring trip to Washington D. C. and other points of interest.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Washington C. H. High School. The bride has been employed at the J. C. Penney Company. Following his graduation from high school the groom served eighteen months in the army and since his return has been employed at Dot Food Store.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Boehm, Sr., daughter Evelyn, son Phillip; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Boehm, Jr.; Miss Mary Boehm, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Chichphore all of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Ern-

Royal Chapter Eastern Star Observes "Friendship Night"

Royal Chapter No. 29 Order of the Eastern Star observed Friendship Night, Monday evening when members of Mary Chapter No. 9 of Marysville, Jefferson Chapter No. 300 of Jeffersonville and Nellie Counts Chapter No. 491 of Sedalia were the guests.

The regular business meeting was conducted by the Worthy Matron Miss Elizabeth Horney and the Worthy Patron, Mr. Ronald Cornwell.

The chapter room was beautifully decorated with many colorful fall flowers and was a perfect setting for the lovely program which followed the business meeting.

Mrs. Helen Briggs was the program chairman and Mr. Ronald Cornwell acted as the master of ceremonies.

The program began with group singing which was led by Mrs. Briggs and accompanied at the piano by Miss Jean Everhart. A piano quartet composed of Stanley Paxon, Max Morrow, Richard Rankin and Harry Silcott then sang "Sundown."

Mrs. Briggs and Mrs. Margaret Hurt sang "Just a Street Where Old Friends Meet." Mrs. Hurt followed with two readings.

The first was a humorous reading "Sleepin at the Foot of the Bed" and the second "The House by the Side of the Road."

A ladies' quartet sang two numbers, "Santa Lucia" and "Viennese Refrain."

Those in the quartet were Mrs. Dorothy Clark, Mrs. Briggs, Mrs. Hurt and Mrs. Rella Silcott.

The men's quartet then sang two numbers "Sweet Genevieve" and "Old Black Joe".

Group singing was again led by Ellison, daughter Patty Jo, son Carl of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rohde, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waddell of Greenfield, Mrs. Clarence Findlay of Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Almer Sowers of Clarksburg, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Galvin, Miss Eleanor Frey, and Mr. William Sickner of Cincinnati.

Mrs. William Rodgers, Mrs. Walter Patton, and Miss Edith Wilson accompanied Miss Nita Gullick to London Monday evening where she was guest speaker at the London Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. Briggs.

Among the guests present was a charter member of Mary Chapter, Mrs. Mabel Thrall who was a member of that chapter when it instituted Royal Chapter in 1894.

She very sweetly reminisced of those days of long ago.

The Worthy Matron of Royal Chapter presented her with a lovely corsage.

The Worthy Matrons of the three visiting chapters were present and they were Mrs. Georgia Auer of Marysville, Mrs. Mildred Trehearne of Sedalia and Miss Helen Fultz of Jeffersonville.

Following the program the Worthy Patron invited the group to the dining room where sandwiches, cookies, orange ice, mints, nuts and coffee were served to the 150 members and guests.

The refreshments were served from a most attractive tea table over which Miss Horney and Mrs. Lucy Panzlau presided.

Mrs. Olive Brookover was chairman of the refreshment committee.

The Worthy Matron announced that Royal Chapter is invited to Mount Sterling for Friendship Night October 5th, also that a chapter is invited to Waverly, October 8th when they observe the 50th anniversary of their chapter.

Royal Chapter is especially interested in Waverly since they instituted that chapter in 1898.

Mrs. and Mrs. L. D. Exline returned Monday from a week's vacation in Chicago, Ill., where they motored their son Mr. Kenneth Bridwell to enter the Bobby Christian School of Music. Enroute home they were week end guests of Professor and Mrs. R. C. Foster at their home in Cincinnati.

Mrs. William Rodgers, Mrs. Walter Patton, and Miss Edith Wilson accompanied Miss Nita Gullick to London Monday evening where she was guest speaker at the London Business and Professional Women's Club.

Bride Elect Is Complimented

A miscellaneous shower on Monday evening complimented Miss Jeanie Spencer, bride elect of Mr. Robert Maust, when Miss Christine Switzer entertained at her home on North North Street.

Clever prizes were awarded the winners in the round of games which provided pleasant diversion during the evening.

The guests were later invited to the dining room where the daintily wrapped gifts had been placed on the lace covered dining table with the unusual and attractive centerpiece a "diamond ring," enshrouded in bright blue cellophane and accented with white fall flowers.

As she opened each gift, the honoree graciously expressed her appreciation.

Tempting refreshments, carrying out a pink and white color scheme, were served.

The hostess was assisted in the hospitalities by her aunt, Miss Bertha Switzer.

Ticket Requests Flood Indians

Rules Are Changed To Let in More Fans

CLEVELAND, Sept. 28—(AP)—Such a flood of requests for world series tickets hit this city's post office last night that President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians switched the rules.

Veeck visited the main post office downtown, drew out a box of aspirin tablets and announced:

"Early this morning, when the post office notified me there were 65,000 letters here addressed to the Cleveland Baseball Club we decided to effect a switch in ticket plans, limiting requests to two tickets to each person for one game."

Originally it was announced tickets for reserved seats and boxes would be sold in blocks of three—one for each of the three games to be played in the city of the American League winner on Oct. 8, 9 and 10. Each applicant could request up to four blocks. Requests had to be made by mail, with no money included, and the mail had to be post marked after midnight last night. That caused a jam in post offices throughout this area.

"This way we can take care of six times as many people as under the previous plan," said Veeck.

Cleveland Stadium, scene of the Indians' games, seats 72,000, but as many as 82,000 have been crowded in.

It already had been announced that about 5,000 season ticket holders would get first chance at the duets.

Veeck said "ticket orders will be filled on a first-come basis. That is, the first envelope delivered to the ball club this morning will receive tickets first. People who get tickets for the Sunday game, Oct. 10, will have to gamble, of course, that the series goes beyond four games."

'Skull Drill' On Mistakes Given Lions

A good stiff workout, both mental and physical, was given the WHS Lions Monday afternoon at Gardner Park.

The mental workout started with a scorching lecture by Coach Fred Pierson and Backfield Coach Steve Lewis on the mistakes made in Friday night's game at Jackson.

That the Lions won the game 27 to 0 was a little matter entirely beside the point. They did not play up to their usual or expected standard. This the coaches underscored forcefully. And, the boys admitted—even before the session—that they had been "off" at Jackson. They could give no explanation, either to themselves or the coaches.

Just what "mistakes" were analyzed at the skull practice were not revealed outside the field house.

But from the work the entire squad was put through on signal drill, it was apparent that an effort was being made to avoid any more of those costly "backfield in motion" penalties that were so ruinous at Jackson.

Precision and timing in the co-ordinated teamwork was stressed. Coach Pierson worked with the line on one part of the field and Coach Lewis bore down on the backfield on another.

Four new plays were worked into the Lion offensive system when the two segments of the team were brought together. Up to now, Pierson admitted, the Lions have used only a few of the plays they have in their bag of tricks. They don't want to uncover all of their weapons until they need them—the element of surprise is considered too important for that.

The boys were all set to work on their offense against the Wilmington Hurricane's defense.

The Lions go to Wilmington Friday night for the Hurricane homecoming game, and Assistant Coach Ronald Guinn scouted the Hurricane's maneuvers last Friday night in his game with Lockland. Lockland won.

While the first string was having its own workout, the second and third teams got to have a little fun with a scrimmage.

Lion Defense One of Best in State Record in First Two Games Shows

BY FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Sept. 28—(AP)—High school pigskin powerhouses are popping up all over the place.

Early returns from the 575 teams indicate that much of the strength is centered in the north-eastern sector of the state—happy hunting grounds of collegiate coaches—with other goliaths scattered here and there.

It's too early to point the "champion" finger at anyone. Barber-ton's Mighty Magics fell 13-9 before Akron South's Cavaliers Friday but things are beginning to take shape.

With two weeks of the campaign gone, the northeastern sector offers the Bulldogs of Canton McKinley, Massillon, Alliance and Steubenville as its gems. Toledo Waite is rated highly in the northwest, Ironton in the southeast, and Hamilton and Middletown in the southwest.

Washington C. H. has one of the top defensive teams in the state if figures mean anything. Linden McKinley, of Columbus, made only 12 yards rushing against the Lions in losing 31-6, and Jackson, a 27-0 victim, made only 24. Bill Campbell has completed 12 to 16 passes for the Lions.

Athens scored on the first two plays from scrimmage, 75 and 63 yards, in smothering Oak Hill 45-0.

The situation in Cincinnati and Cleveland hasn't cleared up so far as top teams are concerned, but around Columbus it looks as if West High, unbeaten and untied last season, might be among the best despite a 13-13 tie with Upper Arlington. Middletown, too, ran into a 13-13 deadlock last week-end with a Newark club which seems definitely on the mend after a not-too-good 1947 season.

Off For Scoring Honors
Canton McKinley, with half-back John Colcler counting four touchdowns to boost his two-game total to seven, routed Warren Harding 25 to 0 last weekend.

That victory, tacked on to a previous 33-7 win over Cleveland Lincoln, tagged the Bulldogs as the gang to beat in the northeast. Just a few miles west, at Massillon, the Tigers under new Coach Chuck Mather rolled to a 25-0 win over Canton Lincoln for their second straight before a crowd of 18,000. The season-closing clash of that pair should be a "dilly."

Coach Frank Pauly's Toledo Waite squad scored a 40-6 win over Toledo Devilbiss, which just a week before had bowled over Elyria, unbeaten a year ago. And Toledo Scott, coached by Al Sacksteder, showed its teeth with a 27-0 conquest of Woodward.

Ironton, after an easy opener against Wayne, W. Va., surprised everyone, including Coach T. Charlton (Shorty) Davies, with a 25-7 win over Columbus East. It was a birthday gift for Coach Davies.

Champs Threatened
Middletown, unbeaten last year until the final game with Hamilton, ran up a two-touchdown edge over Newark in the first period, but the Wildcats fought back to tie and had the ball close to the Mid-dies' goal line when time ran out. Earlier Newark defeated a good Norwalk team 27 to 13.

The Middletown-Newark game shows the value of scouting. A scout assigned to look the Wild-cats over in the Norwalk game failed to get there when his car broke down. Coach Glenn Ellison

First Game For Lion Cubs Is At Xenia

The Lion Cubs of WHS today were full of anticipation and excitement as they put the final touches on preparations for their first game of the season at Xenia Thursday night.

The squad of about 35 boys of the junior high school have been practicing diligently, although almost unnoticed at Wilson Field for two weeks.

While their big brothers were taking most of the spotlight, they have been going at it hammer and tongs under the direction of Coach Ronald Guinn. The Cubs have their plays and they have been developing their technique.

The squad is in good condition, for many of the boys started out practicing with the varsity. Two weeks ago they were shifted to the Cub squad for further seasoning. The WHS coaching staff believes the experience gained in the junior high circuit is one of the most valuable assets the boys can bring with them when they come out for the big blue team.

The Cubs have an inter-school schedule that almost parallels that of the Lions in the SCO Yeague.

of the Middies had to send his boys into the game "cold," and when Newark offered a powerful "T" they couldn't cope with it. Newark's ground game gained 241 yards, Middletown's 142.

Hamilton's only weakness seems to be in the point-after-touchdown department. Last week the big Blue made only two of seven extra points in wrecking Dayton Fair-view 44-6, and only one of six as Zanesville lashed was whipped 31-7, with Jack Gordon adding three touchdowns to the pair he got in the opener. Chuck Thackera, new Hamilton coach, is working on the extra point angle.

This And That

It's a habit at Massillon the Tigers scoring on the first play . . . they did it four of the first five against Cleveland Cathedral Latin, and they counted on the first play Friday against Canton Lincoln.

Dick Shuff, Mount Vernon's ball-lugger deluxe, carried the pigskin six times from scrimmage against New Boston, and scored touchdowns on four of 'em. He also added a 70-yard punt return for a TD, along with the scrimmage jaunts of 59, 30, 28 and 20 yards. He averaged 24 yards per run from scrimmage, and New Boston fell 39-0.

Back in 1941-42-43 Ollie Cline led Fredericktown to 22 straight wins, but the Freddie's 37-13 loss to Bellville Friday was their tenth straight.

Piqua's 10-game winning streak ended as Springfield's Wildcats, beaten the week before by Toledo Libbey, ran up a 37-13 score before 7000 fans at Piqua.

Rich Miller of Groveport stole the ball from Jim Feaster of Grove City, but ran 97 yards for a touchdown, and his team lost 26-7, and Jim Barkoff's Gahanra Lincoln team was a loser, too, despite his

Practice On Defense Pays Off For Bucks in Missouri Game

COLUMBUS, Sept. 28—(AP)—Ohio State University's football team practiced all last week on defense and then beat the tar out of Missouri on Saturday.

Maybe with that in mind, Coach Wesley Fesler says this week is to be put to defense again. It's the pass defense that needs polishing mainly for next Saturday's game against the University of California.

One reason is Dean Hill, the USC quarterback who has completed 16 of 21 passes while his team was beating Utah, 27 to 0, the Oregon State, 21 to 6.

Jimmy Powers, who subs for Dill, has hit six out of 11 tries.

"We won't run into much better throwing than that," Fesler told the weekly press radio luncheon yesterday, "and if we aren't ready for them we might be smothered."

The Buckeyes have plenty else to do as well, he added.

"This one will be different," he said. "The Trojans are fast, have some fine passers, and their backfield is big and elusive. Our boys are in fair shape physically, but we'll have no rough work for our 95-yard touchdown run on the old Statue of Liberty play.

Gallipolis, winner of 10 straight last year, has two victories this year, each by 35-0, over Oak Hill and Point Pleasant, W. Va. Capt. Bill Joe Johnson scored on 32 and 40-yard runs, and fullback Bob Marchi got the other three against Point Pleasant, one a 60-yarder. And Gene Wetherholt has booted all 10 extra points without a miss first and second teams this week. We can't afford to have anyone hurt."

Scout Dick Fisher told the group that Ralph Pucci, defensive right half for the Trojans and a product of Ohio's Canton McKinley High School, wasn't being used on offense because he was slower than the rest of the USC backfield talent.

"And we went after Pucci to come to Ohio State because of his speed," Fesler interjected.

H. Wade Kraner, assistant director of ticket sales, looked back on the 21-7 job on Missouri contentedly and predicted that 70,000 would turn out for the USC game. Only 57,000 were on hand last Saturday.

He also disclosed that any student or prof wanting to see the game but not knowing what to do with the offspring need no longer worry.

Children one to three can be checked in Pomerene Hall in the care of members of the women's physical education staff, and those three to ten years old can be put in the Ohio Union for entertainment and refreshments under the supervision of student nurses. It'll be done by reservation.

Belated Bonus Claimants Will Receive Notice

Payment of Bonus is Delayed in Many Instances

Bonus applications with claim numbers higher than 365,000 who have received no correspondence about their unpaid claims will soon be notified what to do.

This was stated today by Courtney E. Kerby, assistant director of the World War II Compensation Fund, who said that typists have reached this number in sending out forms necessary to obtain the additional information or documents required before a determination can be made on such claims.

Kirby said that all claims received from living veterans by September 3 have been examined and sent either for check writing or for additional information in the special irregular claims section.

"In the regular examining section, we emphasized high speed production and, to insure accuracy, any claim about which there was the slightest question was sent to a special section for more careful consideration," he said.

He said it was necessary to send some 200,000 of the 700,000 claims received to date to the irregular claims section in order to insure accurate payments in fairness both to the veterans concerned and the taxpayers of Ohio.

"We have now paid more than 83,000 of these irregular claims and are making payments on such claims at the approximate rate of 1500 a day," Kirby said.

More than 530,000 claims have been paid since April 28th.

Irregular claims are those in which:

The applicant failed to answer properly all questions on the application form; or the applicant failed to submit the necessary supporting discharge or separation papers; or the eligibility can not be accurately determined in the basis of the evidence submitted in the application form and/or from the supporting documents.

"We can not say all irregular claims are the result of the applicant's failure to follow instructions. In many instances, omissions and errors on discharge documents furnished both army and navy veterans upon their separation from service causes such cases to be made irregular," Kirby said.

All eligible veterans who have not as yet filed a claim for the Ohio World War II Compensation should now make application without further delay through their local County Bonus Representative, or full-time veterans' service officer.

Harris Back Home From Long Journey

After traveling 28,000 miles by air and 5,000 by train and automobile, Prof. F. R. Harris, former superintendent of the Greenfield Schools for many years, and who is well known in this city, has returned to his home in Greenfield.

His tour was of the Union of South Africa and stop overs at Lisbon, Paris, London, and other points.

The trip covered eight weeks and added much to Harris' already wide experiences.

During the last 15 years he has traveled almost exclusively by air, and has visited nearly every country in the world.

Dysentery Case Is Found Here

The first case of bacillary dysentery in several years appeared in Fayette County when Bessie Varney, aged five, was found to have the disease.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Varney of 1221 Paint Street.

Report of the diagnosis was received at the Health Department Monday. The child had been ill since Sept. 12 in Children's Hospital in Columbus. She is under the care of Dr. Sylvester there.

Dr. Gordon B. Savage, the health commissioner, said Tuesday that additional cases of both amoebic and bacillary dysentery probably would appear. People who have had the disease once may carry the germs without the symptoms and transmit them to those with whom they come in contact, he said.

The disease might be brought about through contamination of the water supply either at the source or through back siphoning of sewage. Unpasteurized milk might also be a medium through which the disease is passed from one person to the next, Dr. Savage said. Flies are also suspected of carrying the disease.

Two Room House Badly Damaged

Fire starting shortly after 11 A. M. Tuesday, badly damaged a two room house on Grove Avenue, occupied by a family named Ater. Firemen found the interior of the house a mass of flames when they arrived. The entire interior of the house was charred, and virtually all household goods destroyed.

No one was at home at the time, and the flames had broken from the building when first discovered. Origin of the fire is unknown.

Marshall Grange "Booster Night"

Marshall Grange will hold "booster night" Thursday at 7:00 P. M. at the Grange Hall, and a covered dish supper will open the event. An interesting program will follow. All are requested to take table service.

Beverly Coil and Jack Biddle will present a short skit "Pest Puts One Over" and a musical reading, "A Boy Who Stutters and A Girl Who Lisps," will be given by Beverly Coil and Shirley Sharrett.

Carolyn Gault and Ronnie Whittinger will present dancing numbers and Norman Looker will give a comedy sketch, "Herman Blows In." An impersonation by Shirley Sharrett, and reading "Almost Beyond Endurance," by Mary Waters, are also listed on the program, as well as piano solos by Ellsworth Vannorsdall and Ulric Acton. Mrs. S. C. Creamer is lecturer.

Must Get Drivers Permit At Once

Thursday is the last day for motor vehicle drivers to obtain their permits for 1949 and the remainder of this year.

The office of the Fayette County Auto Club, where Fayette County licenses are issued, has been a busy place, and a number of additional clerks have been added to the regular staff to insure as little delay as possible.

Deputy Registrar Howard Allen said Tuesday that the number issued up to-date was somewhat ahead of the number of permits issued up to the same time last year.
